A powerful magnification software with customizable effects. Multiple lenses to choose from. Customizable effects. Customizable speech. Thousands of effects to choose from. It's one of those applications that might be useful but doesn't get the attention it deserves. It's a great application, perfect to magnify anything on your screen, but it's only really useful on tablets. Sure, it's great to have it on your laptop or desktop, but it's not nearly as useful and I'm sure the designers wanted people to know this. With this application you can magnify anything on your screen. You can do this by dragging and dropping the desired area of the screen and letting it magnify. It's really great when you're having a hard time reading on the computer or watching a DVD. I only noticed this when I was using the application on my tablet, and I thought it was just me. It's not and this is a really great application. When you install it you'll see a dialog that comes up asking if you want to install it or not. If you do, you'll see a new icon on your desktop, which you can click in order to launch the application. Once you're inside you'll see a screen that asks you for permission to use a certain file type, and then asks you to choose which you want to magnify, in this case a PDF file. Once you've chosen your PDF, a dialog comes up so you can tell what you're magnifying, or in this case, the magnified area is the entire window. After a moment, the document will be magnified. The application then opens an area where you can use the mouse in order to drag and drop. You can also select text or pictures or whatever you'd like and it will be magnified. There's also a speech function if you'd like to hear what you're reading or whatever it is you're magnifying. When you're done you can either click on the magnified area and it'll be back to normal, or you can click on the magnified area and close it. In order to be able to use the application on your laptop or desktop computer, you'll need to get it from the tablet store and download it to your MediaPad is a media player and screen recorder that can be run on a computer that has a graphical user interface. The application was created to save time when producing presentations, training programs, tutorials, news, or software demos. A strong feature is that it is lightweight and as fast as most other players of its type, making it an ideal tool for those who need to quickly produce video content. The program doesn't require a large amount of resources to run, and can be quickly operated with a touch screen or mouse pointer. There are a lot of options available in MediaPad, and its biggest disadvantage is that it doesn't have an official website. You can find information about the program on the web, but it isn't updated very often, so you might not always find the most recent version.
