Prove that $\mathbb{Q}(\sqrt{2})$ is an algebraic number field of degree 4, and 1 is invertible in $\mathbb{Q}(\sqrt{2})$. A: $\mathbb{Q}(\sqrt2)$ is a number field of degree 4. Let $\alpha=\sqrt2$, then α is a root of x^2-2 which means x^2-2 is the minimal polynomial of $\sqrt2$. Now x^4-2x^2+1 is a polynomial of degree 4 with rational coefficients, but if you expand it you'll find it is equal to $x^4-2x^2+1=x^2(x^2-1)$. So 1 is invertible in $\mathbb{Q}(\sqrt2)$. A: If you're studying the representation of rational numbers as matrices (the definition is found in your text), then you might enjoy the following: The congruence $x^2 \equiv 2 \pmod 4$ has no rational solutions. Proof. The only rational solutions of $x^2 \equiv 2 \pmod 4$ are 0 and 2. The only solutions of $x^2 \equiv 2$ are 1 and 2. In other words, since $2^2 = 4$ is not congruent to $2 \pmod 4$, the only possible x-value is 1. A: 1) The minimal polynomial of $\sqrt2$ is $(x^2-2)^2$. 2) We have $$1=(\sqrt2)^4=(\sqrt2)^2(\sqrt2)$$

TSync Crack License Key For PC

Create macros, shortcuts and automate repetitive actions. Keymacro offers a quick way to make your life easier with macros and shortcuts. It will allow you to create them for all your main applications like Microsoft Office and Qiwi, Automatically open multiple webpages in browsers such as Firefox, Internet Explorer, Chrome etc. If you're looking for a quick tool to schedule your social media marketing then this application is for you.
