Yeah. I know. I have a huge pile of laundry to get done. Some. There is a large pile of schoolwork to be done. Some. I have to go to the birthday party and the 11th birthday party for Jack on Monday. Oh, and the swim team. On Monday. I have to make a new cardigan for Christmas. There are all these projects I want to work on. Nothing I feel like doing. I have a pile of things I have to do this week. And I'm just exhausted. Does this last sentence sound familiar? I sure do. Now, if you recall I do not recommend making resolutions at this time of year. It is so easy to "stick to" the resolution, you have no goals. And you have no fun. So, to be fair to myself, I'm gonna call this post: "I will have fun and stick to my goals". And I will. Now, who's up for a fun holiday card? You got it...I'm in the mood. Okay. So, I'm the kind of person that needs motivation to do my cards or any project. I get so bored and have so many other things on my to-do list that they seem so overwhelming and I have no time to do anything until I have enough motivation to get going. I'm the same way about getting in the Halloween mood. I go out in the dark looking for candy and Jack and the kids dressed in costumes stay home to get ready to watch Harry Potter. LOL. I need to get some motivation so I can get off my butt and do some studying for 0cc13bf012

I want the image to be showing in yellow color on the top, and gray color on the bottom. I used fx:include for this. Here is my sample code. Image image = new Image("images/file.gif"); Scene scene = new Scene(node); Scene scene2 = new Scene(node2); scene.setRoot(image); scene2.setRoot(image); scene.setOnMouseClicked(e -> System.out.println("Inside scene: Mouse clicked!")); scene2.setOnMouseClicked(e -> System.out.println("Inside scene2: Mouse clicked!")); But the results I am getting is. Here is the result I am getting. Is there any other way to do this? A: Set the style to null on the image component and add a style for the scene that will change the color as needed. The below sample is using a GradientPaint to produce a gradient effect. Scene scene = new Scene(node); scene.getStylesheets().add(getClass().getResource("stylesheet.css").toExternalForm()); Image image = new Image("images/file.gif"); // set the style of the image element image.setStyle("-fx-background-color: rgba(255,255,0,0.8);"); // set the style of the scene scene.getStylesheets().add(getClass().getResource("stylesheet.css").toExternalForm()); scene.setStyle("-fx-background-color
