What's new:

yep i need more gameplay that i would have to spend a whole years on, and i really hate the narrator and lack of dialogues, moves system would be nice but not more than i expected (not talking about poor melda mode or other instant move system like mobile games) i was a happy elf at first, i played it like a traditional JRPG (similar to FF11) and i cannot get what changed... Gameplay : not much happening, new story to finish, a bit annoying the battle system needs revamp for the best way to play it (3 of you shall join, one is the main boss), world is empty, almost as classic darksiders 2 experience, the unexpected Story : old story, not enough new idea this time, i would have assumed a season storyline (like FFT or FF7) : the world is decaying, the forest is dying or something because the elves are underground and keeping mortals and stones out, so this is the storyline but i find this boring, its old, boring, boring... Characters : not much nice and funny character this time, i get bored by the men the most charcters are humans, almost all men there are Hweel with good looks funny faces and wacky colors a total mismatch, the elf char will do battle, and elf acution system (not hewel) will be the worst acution system i ever seen Gameplay :a bit tedious, i liked the battles and i liked the boss fights too but compared to some other ff series (and the ff11 boss fights are unreal) it fall in the middle, something missing, maybe the ability to use more specials without reusing it to other chars? Are deffensive bonus (like an health regeneration) and nice speed bonus (like equippers) this would make the battle experience better as this is the main problem : the first maximum attack can be reached easily the (reuse) bonus arent good enough to remain a challenge and therefore fun... Story :a bit old, a bit boring, same story, nothing new for me a decade after the fact, i expected new plot and ideas after the release of FF11 so i could imagine a FF13 with a new plot not a upgrade of the first 10 years of the game (like that would be a SCOWAR in FF : patch and improve vanilla game)... Characters :not much character having fun, a bit manic, some funniest moments and some
