I have only had it a few days, so I cannot give you a full review, but I have had the CL since they came out of the factory and I love it, it is very fun to drive and has great power and handling. It started yesterday so i just got online to see if I could post a picture, this is my first post. I need a bad battery on it, it was a direct battery but I got the terminal inside really hot, so it sucked so I took it in for the technician. I get the terminal for now. They told me there is a warning light on the dash board. I was told it was a vacounator fault and I should replace it. I am not sure if I believe that. 1. Somebody told me there was other problems with the car, it had a gas leak, I don't know why they told me. 2. Is it a good idea to do this myself, or should the dealer do it? 3. Does anybody know if the terminal would work if I put it in the trunk of the car? I was thinking about just putting it there for now. Thanks in advance for any help, I know it is a stupid question and it sounds like an easy fix but I do not want to mess up my car yet. Originally posted by CFVacunator I am not sure if I believe that. Click to expand... It's a good idea to have it fixed anyway because of the terminal. You may want to let the owner know that there could be a problem. Some terminals tend to fail fast.

Also, if you can find the "official" part# for your car, is that the
