I tried this and it still returns the same directory. I don't know if this could be solved using the solution in the proposed duplicate, but I was not able to figure out how to solve it: `import os url = " # Make the directory os.mkdir("directory") # Add the file os.system("curl ")` Could anyone please help me? A: You can use subprocess to make http requests. `import subprocess def curl_get_url(url): process = subprocess.Popen(['curl', url], stdout=subprocess.PIPE, stderr=subprocess.PIPE, shell=True) out, err = process.communicate() process.wait() return out.decode('utf-8').strip()` Assuming that you are the only user of your computer, just run `import subprocess url = "" subprocess.Popen(['curl', url])` To run it over SSH, use the executable command `ssh.`
