Whenever I install Windows 10 Pro, in the "suggested updates" notification I get a message saying something like this: Thank you for installing Windows 10 Pro. Your PC will now be able to receive updates for security and stability via Windows Update, or your PC will be able to download and install Windows 10 Pro updates from the Microsoft Update catalog. We'll be in touch. I would like to disable this notification, so I don't have it popping up in the taskbar or any notification center every time I do something with Windows Update. How can I do this? A: Open the registry (Start menu > Type regedit > Enter) and navigate to HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\SOFTWARE\Policies\Microsoft\Windows\WindowsUpdate\ and remove the Disable Windows Update Service notification setting to "1". This does not prevent you from installing updates however. Windows will still notify you when you have updates. If you don't want Windows to notify you when you have updates, you can always select "Do not notify me about this" when installing updates. A: The answer was posted in 2edc1e01e8
